MINING IN ARGENTINA

A DETERMINANT INDUSTRY LOOKING TO 2030

Argentine mining main characteristic has been its great potential, with a variety of significant minerals and resources. Among the most important ones extracted in the country are gold, silver and lithium with main operations located in the regions of San Juan, Santa Cruz, Salta, Jujuy and Catamarca.

Over the past few years, Argentina has seen mining investment grow thanks to high demand of minerals and metals used in technology and renewable energy source developments, which were the underpinnings of a revaluing of the country's geological wealth. In Argentina's extensive portfolio the most significant mining projects include lithium mining, gold production in San Juan and Santa Cruz, and copper mining, with world-class projects widely recognized by world investors.
