

„Brazil Reloaded?“

Event together with leading Brazil experts

21. February | Cologne

Dear clients and friends of our firm,

The Brazilian economy is showing first signs of recovery after going through its worst recession in more than a century, since the impeachment of the former President Dilma Rouseff of the Brazilian labor party and the consecutive change in political direction. Six months after Vice-President Michel Temer – considered more conservative – has assumed presidential powers and initiated first reforms, it is time to have a closer look on the status quo and perspectives of Brazil.

What new opportunities are arising, particularly for the German “Mittelstand” business, in the country that continues to be by far the most important trade partner and investment location for German companies in Latin America?

In order to discuss this and other relevant questions, we invite you cordially – joining forces with the most-renowned Think Tank in Latin America (FGV) and the biggest German Latin America business network (LAV) – to participate in our upcoming event in Cologne:
